(collaboration with Laura Elrick recording)

wireless meringue

I've been sleeping for a long time.

we have been eluded for even longer.

this squatter of creek later trees mythical intravenous of the littler consequences of the sleeping folly

Sudanese a small apartment is closer to Africa than imagined how to read 50% of all the material with faith and carry how to have huge meaning put this under your pillow did go with oil lantern did go big meaning? or larger hardened insomnia so on and so forth in there you are a hymn of first words to which we respond to which we remember long from hanging longing were terns again terms run under missed water uses and underneath is shaped like a bowl where bodies can slide into the center and take knowing hardened mouth so proportioned he just didn't get it to be honest since he had hubris we had Ambiens something to talk about something to repose a jacket ricochet Manhattan / cherry city for sleeping for waking for cooking for fucking autumn is for lovers for warm gravy rice for questions said to truly in clarity sincerity as a title is not eccentric like a slipknot tottering it means you're using up all your energy on scooping up other peoples left over love just the other day it's stupid / rest assured

Texas is a rest stop Washington DC is a rest stop you're having a moment together and it's not that meaning homophobes should spend more time sleeping schools should make up more imaginary things like occupied countries received through the mails a postal dream is returned to an empty look at the curbside death is a postal dream imagined by the occupied school and so you say supply the aerial city with larger alarm cunning get out of the door in this last piece
